Do you want a pure, bloom-ing Complexion? If so, a few applications of Hagan's MAGNOLIA BALM will gratify you to your heart's content. It does away with Sallowness, Redness, Pimples, Blotches, and all diseases and imperfections of the skin. It overcomes the flushed appearance of heat, fatigue and excitement. It makes a lady of THIRTY appear but TWEN-TY; and so natural, gradual, perfect are its effects, that it is impossible to detect its application.

The whole secret is in the carpenter's crupulously polite manner. No patron was too insignificant for him to try to was too insignificant for him to try to please. When summoned to a consultation his shoes were carefully scrubbed at the door, his hat came off his head the instant he was inside the house, and remained off, and especially if his employer were feminine was it a treat to watch him to a local control of the provener of our most successful enterprises. Mexicans Never in a Hurry

"Rush" is something a Mexican cannot understand. He always has time for everything. He stays long at table, dres leisurely, keeps much in the open air; and the women are of the same leisurely habits. One hears little about "nerves" here, and life goes on just as well, and a little better than if one were keeping ten engagements in twelve hours and reforming ill the rest of mankind. The oval, warm tinted or even the frequently seen pallid face of the pure blooded Spanish woman has no look on it of a brain occupied with trying to solve the riddle of the universe, d doubtless the universe is just as well off and will run on just as smoothly. Boston has been trying for the last half century to guess the riddle of the Spynx, and never will succeed. It needs less east wind, less of "problems" and more repose and cheerful fun. The Latin races have got nearer to a successful solution of the question of how to live comfortably than the Anglo-Saxon. Somehow, they have not the faintest idea that the solar system will go wrong if they fail to "give their minds to it,"—Mexico Cor. Boston Herald.

As for the girls, does any one suppose that a public school girl would think of coing out to domestic service? Goo house servants can get from $15 to $20 pe month, with good food and comfortable homes, but the public school girl would "rather die first" than take employment of that kind. If actually obliged to earn her living she will become a "saleslady," or learn some light trade, or do copying or typewriting or telegraphing, neither of which perhaps will pay her as well in the long run; but hire out in a family she will not under any circumstance If her parents are able to keep her at home this girl is often a nuisance and burden. She does not want to do any of the household work, but she does want to be well dressed and to go out a great deal. The chances are that she wants a piano, too. While going to school she heard other girls talk of having pianos, and perhaps some of her friends have these in struments of torture, and she must also have one. So, may be, a plane is hired father or mother could not possibly buy one) at $5 or $6 a month, and then the 'parlors must be refurnished, the old ngs look so shabby beside the piano and a carpet and some new furniture are bought on the installment plan, which means double price, and so it goes on till the hard working father and slave of a mother are at their wits' end to keep the pot boiling. I do not charge all this to the public schools, but they are undoubtedly responsible for a large part of it, any way. The plain public schools of thirty years ago were in the main an excellent institu tion, but the fancy public schools of to-day are in some respects a positive evil.
